

Corvus Group partners with Quantum to provide bespoke fund administration solutions

Quantum is excited to announce their partnership with Corvus Group, an independent provider of administrative and advisory services to the private funds market. This collaboration underscores both firms' commitment to delivering innovative, technology-driven solutions to the financial services sector.

Founded in 2019, Corvus Group has evolved to encompass fund administration services and outsourced general counsel services. With clients ranging from first-time managers to established fund advisory businesses and portfolio companies, Corvus Group is uniquely placed to support value creation across its clients' businesses and investment structures and throughout the lifecycle of their funds.

Corvus Group's fund administration and corporate services business, Corvus Administration, offers a flexible range of fund and corporate services delivered via a bespoke, legacy-free technology platform. With a team led by experienced industry professionals and leveraging Corvus Group's combination of administration and legal advisory expertise, Corvus Administration takes an informed, solutions-focussed approach to service provision, enabling Corvus Administration to provide its clients with practical, tailored solutions which build resilience and create value. The Corvus Group leadership team sought a software solution to efficiently administer their clients' investment structures, covering administration, accounting, transaction bookings, capital notices, and reporting, along with providing an investor portal for their clients' LPs. They required a system that was flexible, user-friendly, and a software partner capable of supporting their growth. Corvus Group was highly impressed with Quantum's capabilities, selecting them as their technology after a comprehensive evaluation of the market.

James McCarthy, Co-Founder at Corvus Group, said, "We are delighted to announce our partnership with Quantum. We were extremely impressed not only with the power and functionality of the Quantum system, but also with their team. Quantum will be a cornerstone of our modern, legacy-free technology platform, and our partnership further demonstrates our commitment to delivering a class-leading, tech-enabled service."

"The Quantum team really impressed us with their professionalism and proactivity during the due diligence process," said Andy Brizell, Co-Founder at Corvus Group. "We believe in building long-term relationships of trust with our clients, and we look for the same when selecting our service providers. Quantum repeatedly demonstrated their commitment to building a relationship with us during the diligence process, and we look forward to continuing to build that relationship as our business grows."

Dave Bridger, Head of Fund Administration at Corvus Group, added, "We firmly believe in leveraging the power of modern technology to deliver an enhanced client service. Whilst certain administration systems can be rigid in terms of operation and outputs, Quantum has the inherent flexibility we require to better tailor our outputs to meet clients' specific needs. Coupled with the high degree of integration demonstrated between the different elements of the system, Quantum will provide us with the platform we need to develop truly bespoke client solutions."

Jessie Juan, Co-Founder at Quantum, said, "We are thrilled to welcome Corvus Group as a client. Their forward-thinking approach to technology and dedication to delivering the highest standards of service align perfectly with our mission at Quantum. We are excited to support Corvus as they continue to innovate and grow, and we look forward to a long and successful partnership."
